Special congratulations to our editors on the arrival of a new archer - a baby boy (Alexander).

Wedding bells on September 25 for Wanda Allan and Bud Sadegur and also for Diane Niemi and her fellow from Seattle.

The shoot of Capilano - Canada Day Shoot was great! The results are included in this Archer. This is a good chance to thank Linda and Jessie James, Harry Moore, Greg Mars, etc. for such a swell shoot. It was great to see Earl McGregor and his boys from Kerrydale. Greg Smith was so excited about it all that he left his equipment there and proceeded to Parksville.

We had a chance to stay at the Qualicum range of the Mid-Island Archers and to walk around their interesting, interesting field course.

The PNAA had only 40 shooters total but they were great sports to be with - even in the pouring rain Saturday. There was always a smile on their faces. Even with the worm killing, the scores were good. Thanks to Debbie, our T.C. and Ken and Norma Kienas for all their hard work.

The banquet at the Island Hall was great. The AGM was held and a new record of 4 1/2 minutes was established. One certain archer (J.J.) took many snaps of the affair - with the lens cap on. There was quite a circle of archers, old and new, swapping stories around the truck while waiting for the PNAA results. Was nice to see Frank and Lil Jones visiting the line at the PNAA.

Good luck to John Plank who will soon be attending the World Barebow Field Championships in England.

MRAC just received a trophy they last awarded in 1957 - so, clubs, be patient - your lost trophies may turn up yet.

Congratulations to Patti Miller - first in the freestyle division at the recent Police and Firefighters Olympics held in New Westminster.

All the archers were saddened to hear of the loss of Fay Johnson - our sympathies go out to John and their family.

THE COACH'S CLINIC

Hank Wiseman,
3961 Wood Avenue,
Port Alberni, B.C.
V9Y 7S7

I first wrote about arrows with the centre of gravity well forward of mid length back circa 1970. Others and I have continued to mention the value of heavier points intermittently ever since. Now it is gratifying to learn that someone has taken some notice. I offer you part of a letter from a Soar head who has experimented with it. At least he is nominal head of the Soar family, Doug Soar.

Quote: "Now for some technical stuff. I read the article by Hardy Wood on page 14 of the April Canadian Archer and it triggered something you used to talk about in Port Alberni, about moving the centre of gravity forward. Of course I suddenly realized the other day I never experimented with it as I had fibreglass arrows and the piles were epoxied in.

Anyway, I checked my arrows (X7s, 1814s and 28 1/4" draw) which I have shot for the last four months using a Chek Mate 68" with 33 pound limbs. This set up gave me my best scores. The centre of gravity was only 6.1% forward of mid length. I fiddled about with lead air gun pellets and cotton wool. Three pellets and tightly rammed in cotton wool (to hold them in the pile) brought the centre of gravity to 9 plus % centre of gravity. Some of my groupings were scary, thoughts of expensive Robin Hoods.

I turned my attention to one of my JOPs whose shooting style was better than his scores indicated. I checked his arrows. His best score to date was 255. His average is about 230 - 240. The arrows were 1816s (29") shot from a 32 pound 66" Haida. The C. of G. was about 5.9% forward. I weighted three of them with shot, etc. to about 8.8% and this last week he shot 259, 265, 255 and a 250 (after a late Saturday night).

Previously he would get 3, 4 or 5 tens per round. With the 259 and the 265 he zonked in nine and ten into the ten ring and his 9s also were better." End of quotation.

I have not given the above to say I told you so but to give credit to Doug for his experiments and to thank him for letting me and you into his experience. He does a lot of experimenting and has sent in quite a number of ideas for this column. Thank you Doug. Also, I hope to improve the scores of some of our Canadian archers to the point where we hit and bring home GOLD.

* * * * *

When an archer, or future archer, wishes to learn to shoot barebow, he sometimes is told to concentrate, concentrate, concentrate on the gold. No other method of aiming is given him. He is not told to employ the post draw gap method, nor is point of aim explained. The results for the beginner are invariably zero.

I know of no coach that teaches by that method. They have found it to be useless. The one giving such instruction is just a friendly archer who uses that method himself. The fact that it does work for some archers indicates it has some value. But how did they learn to shoot by that method in the first place? And how does it work at all?

I have had some experience helping some of these archers who believe they shoot purely instinctively when they have gotten in difficulties. Mostly they shot quite accurately up to about 30 meters, though occasionally they put a one end group to the left or right of the gold or aiming spot. Beyond the 30 meters their accuracy fell off, often because their arrows fell low. They had the same low arrow result within the 30 meter distance when given a light bow to use.

Of course I told each of them to simply raise his bow arm and bow. Each of them found it difficult or impossible to raise his arm. I tried lowering the target by the amount they were shooting low. In some cases they started hitting gold. That gives the whole explanation of their success and of their failure.

These barebow archers originally learned to shoot by either a gap method or a point of aim (POA) method; one actually learned with a simple sight, then took it off and continued to shoot in the same form. They had learned the stance for the given short distance so well that it was no longer a stance so much as a pose. That is why they shot low at longer distances. The pose was not modified for the longer distances, as it should have been by raising the bow arm (or tilting at the waist).

The transition from actual aiming, by whatever method, to posing was gradual and unnoticed. The same way of preparing the shot was probably used by the Zen Master who, in the dark of night, shot one arrow, then by using the same identical pose or form, shot another arrow close beside it. It was definitely the method used by my friend who shot six arrows in the gold while blindfolded. He aligned by feeling the cracks in the tiles beneath his feet. He told me that was how it was done.

So if you are one of those who believes he is shooting well by concentrating on the gold and completely ignoring the pile of the arrow, I think you had better start adopting (or reverting) to an accepted method to aim. I suggest you try point of aim (POA) shooting for a while. Thereby you will bring consideration for the arrow point into your preparation for the shot. POA is useful as a step in relearning the post draw gap method of aiming. Alternatively, you could use a simple sight for a while. Any of these other methods of aiming will teach you to raise the bow arm and bow to the elevation the distance requires.

If that bow arm has learned its pose so well that it refuses all attempts to raise it up to desired elevation, then try coming down from above to aim. Or you can take aim and then make your draw. And please, please, don't frustrate some new beginner by giving non-instructions to just concentrate on the gold to the exclusion of all else.

* * * * *

DID YOU KNOW? The archers glove has changed somewhat since days of old. They used to come in pairs. Both were gauntlets (a glove with a sleeve). The bow hand glove was reinforced on the side of the forefinger and thumb where the arrow and its feathers slid across it. The string side glove was reinforced for protection of the three drawing fingers.

REFLECTIONS

A most enjoyable low-key tournament which took place in the beautiful weather which was promised in November! Visitors and helpers unacquainted with archery as a sport were highly impressed at the exemplary behaviour of all the J.O.P.s. Congratulations to all archers.

Doug Soar,
Tournament Director.

Letters to the Editor

How many of you disagree to the Easter weekend as the date for the B.C. Indoor Championships?

A competitive archer spends a good deal of time away from his or her family in the quest for excellence as it is, without turning all his holiday weekends, when he should be enjoying his family, over to archery.

I know for a fact that Rose Mak, an excellent barebow shooter, has never shot the Indoor for that reason. If we hear from enough of you, maybe we can do something about it.

Please write the Editor.

Don Warren.

Editor's Comment: I would appreciate finding out from you as to how you feel about this subject. It has recently stirred up quite a bit of heated discussion among archers. I have my own feelings and I would like to see what you all feel, so send your letters in to me.

OUR SYMPATHIES GO TO THE FAMILY OF

CAPILANO ROD & GUN CLUB
ARCHERY SECTION

I am pleased to say our July 1st Canada Day competition and Zone 5-6 B.C. Summer Games Trials was a great success.

I would like to congratulate the amateur winners, especially the ones that qualified for the Summer Games.

The list of scores follows. The club covered the complete cost of the monies awarded to the pros this year. We believe this will help to bring recognition to the Capilano Archery Club and make a bigger and better shoot in the future.

Congratulations to:

| | | | | |
|--------|----------------|--------------------|-----|----------|
| First | Mr. R. Boorman | Capilano Rod & Gun | Pro | $200.00 |
| Second | Mr. C. Meehan | Richmond | Pro | $100.00 |
| Third | Mr. H. Moore | Capilano Rod & Gun | Pro | $ 50.00 |

To all the people that helped me on the work parties I must say thank you for all the work setting up the field, running the canteen and helping me with the final scores when the shoot was done.

I would especially like to thank Mr. & Mrs. T. Lingle for the use of their target stands and for that big fattening cake we raffled off at at the club. I understand Mrs. Lingle has been the prominent figure in getting a large field at Burnaby Recreation Center for archery. The new club is to be named the Burnaby Archers.

That rather large person with the camera that wandered around taking pictures all day was a good friend of mine by the name of Victor Kennedy. The pictures are very good and if you wish some copies see me at the club.

To all the people who helped out or showed up to shoot I would like to say thanks for making the first big shoot I have ever handled a great success.

The weather wasn't too kind for the P.N.A.A. It rained all day on the Saturday, but managed to hold off Sunday. A banquet was held on Saturday night at the Island Hall where we held one of the shortest meetings on record - 4 minutes 16 seconds. On Sunday we broke another record - a P.N.A. Round shot in 3 hours 10 minutes.

Skookum Archers will be hosting the 1983 P.N.A.A.

I would like to thank the many archers who came from the mainland and U.S.A. to attend the P.N.A.A. Here on the Island people wear T-shirts stating "Where the Hell is Port Alberni?". Maybe it should be changed to "Where the Hell is Victoria?". I guess I shouldn't sound nasty, as the shoot was attended by three Juniors that came all the way from Victoria.

There were a lot of people who were hurt to find no adult participation from Victoria.
